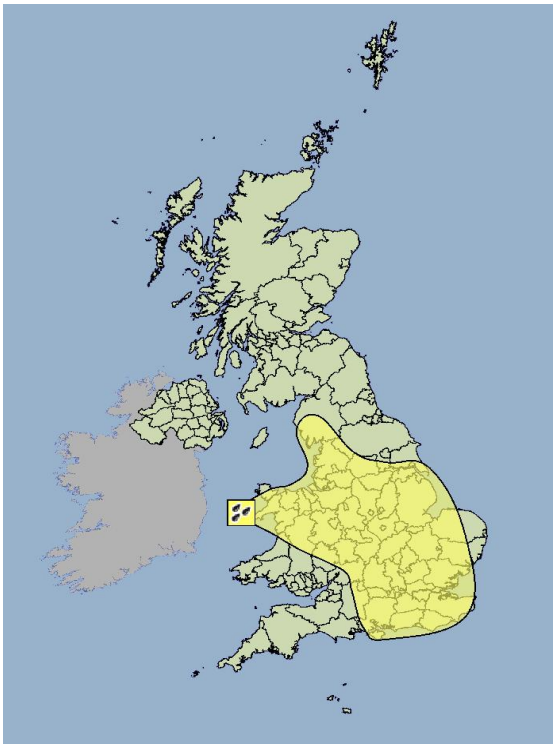
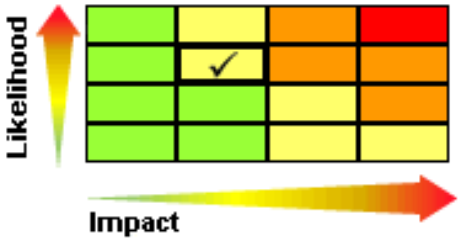
National Severe Weather Warning Service





Chief Forecasters Assessment
A moist, unstable air mass across most of England and Wales has led to the development of some heavy showers and localised thunderstorms. 15-25 mm of rain could fall locally within an hour, with 30 to 40 mm possible within 3 or 4 hours. These amounts could generate some surface water flooding, especially if they affect urban areas.

The Met Office have issued a Yellow Warning of Rain

Valid from 20:00 on Sat, 11th Jun 2016 until 22:00 on Sat, 11th Jun 2016

Heavy, thundery downpours which have developed today across parts of England and Wales are slowly starting to ease, but there remains a risk of further downpours this evening. Be aware of the risk of localised surface water flooding and disruption to travel.
